if...

if you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you; if you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
but make allowance for their doubting too;
if you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
or being hated don't give way to hating,
and yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

if you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
if you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
if you can meet with triumph and disaster and treat those two imposters just the same;
if you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools, or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
and stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

if you can make one heap of all your winnings and risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss, and lose, and start again at your beginnings and never breathe a word about your loss;
if you can force your heart and nerve and sinew to serve your turn long after they are gone, and so hold on when there is nothing in you except the will which says to them; "hold on!"

if you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue, or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch;
if neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you;
if all men count with you, but none too much;
if you can fill the unforgiving minute with sixty seconds' worth of distance run, yours is the earth and everything that's in it, and—which is more—you'll be a man, my son!

cafeteria rocks on fridays

the first dance of the year was less than a success because the lights could not be dimmed in the cafeteria the alternative of holding browne dances at maryvale also ran into snags when maryvale refused browne clubs the use of their gym. with typical bruin ingenuity however, a light switch was placed in the cafeteria and the bruin boosters helped with transporting students from the maryvale field to the browne cafeteria. the first dance back at browne was held by associated students for only 50¢ admission charge, and a record number of students showed up. next was the halloween dance which started with some of the yearbook staff dressing up in costumes to promote the dance poms have "really got it all together"

pom-pon girls helped the school spirit this year by dancing at football games, pep assemblies, parades and special events. the eight girls practice many hours before school and after to perfect their routines. money raising projects and boosters club helped them to buy attractive brown and orange spirit costumes to help the teams' spirits.

mrs. j. johnson sponsored the poms this year and aided the girls in making the many decisions that must be made for a brand new pom group. the closely-knit group also contributed many skits at the pep assemblies.

routines for football games. songs that the girls danced to included favorites like: "if my friends could see me now," "trevor browne fight song," "shaft," "soul town."

the browne twirling squad has done many things this year with the band, such as performing routines at football games, attending band competitions and ushering at the school dedication.

the sponsor of the twirling squad is mrs. pat bruns. captain is dianna felty and co-captain is casandra cunningham.

new is the word for bruin musicians the trevor browne band started off the year with "new" as their theme since they have new uniforms, a new band room, new instruments, new music, and a new band director, mr lewis finell

the band council consists this year of: president-jolynn addie; vice president-patrick wipps; treasurer-dave yannayon; secretary-susan soock; senior rep -greg ramsey; junior rep kevin newsom; sophomore rep.-debbie cornell; freshman rep.-mark gershman; drum major-bill leroy

to raise money for a proposed concert tour, the band sold tumblers, candy apples, patches, candy, candles and many other things the band also participated in the state fair, the rodeo, football games parades, and other kinds of public appearances the band this year had many starting problems: first, the band had to find a field to practice marching using the school parking lot was fine until the motorists decided they wanted to use it. that didn't work the bandsmen then decided to use the field at starlight park at 7:00 in the morning which brought up more problems. the first problem was water after rains and irrigation. the field was a "swamp". the second problem was that little kids were darting in and out of the lines and formations during practice. a simple remedy for this was a kick in the pants, but the starlight administration frowned on this. despite these problems, the bruin band marched on with school spirit

mr. tinell expressed his views about browne by saying, "this school gives the student a unique opportunity to learn and advance in their own way." and when asked, how is band doing this year, he replied "it is very fortunate to have so many students of high caliber from maryvale, that it makes the process of starting a new school a lot easier bear facts staff battles to gain support the first bear facts newspaper staff crossed many barriers in the course of a year. included were difficulties in getting advertising revenues, adequate financing and having an extremely small staff. through all of these problems, however, the staff always puts out an interesting publication yearbook staff fights inexperience and deadlines despite the yearly bugaboo of close deadlines and the big problem of not having a complete darkroom, this year's staff was able to overcome most obstacles and put out browne's first yearbook

a contest to name the book at the beginning of the year was won by kevin steiner, who received a free yearbook for his entry the staff also sponsored a halloween dance and sold candy apples as well as advertising to supplement yearbook sales the yearbook is completely self-supporting browne high offered voluntary assemblies in addition to the regularly scheduled assemblies held for the first time this year. there have been many pep assemblies held on the day of a game. these assemblies held on a voluntary assembly schedule drew good support and helped fill the stands at the sports events

thespians begin season with "barefoot in the park"

the first production in the history of the trevor browne thespians was made in november with neil simon's comedy "barefoot in the park". the play concerns two newlyweds, paul and corrie bratter, and their misadventures in their new apartment. the apartment is six wheezing flights up, with no elevator. it has no heat, no furniture, no bathtub, and the skylight on the roof is nothing but holes. adding to the fun is corrie's prim and proper mother, mrs. banks. then there is also the strange old man who lives above them in the attic. things really start happening when on one of his many visits through the bratters' bedroom window, victor velasko (the old man) decides that corrie's mother is just his type. then, after a wild night on the town, mr. velasko and mrs. banks leave together, leaving paul and corrie to loudly settle their differences. after a side-splitting scene in which paul perches himself, stoned out of his mind, on a rooftop ledge, the whole cast received a resounding ovation. the play was directed by miss carrol statom and student director nancy childs.

the thespian's second production was a dramatic, beautiful, and haunting story flowers for algernon. the play, based on the short story by daniel keyes, was done in flashbacks and a split-scene set.

the poignant drama told the biography of a man named charlie gordon, between the months of march and september sometime in his life. charlie is mentally retarded, a moron. he is given an operation sponsored by two special doctors, dr. nemur and dr. strauss. the operation is designed to increase his intelligence to the level of a genius, as done with an experimental mouse named algernon. charlie has a teacher who teaches many retarded adults, and is chosen to help him along as he progresses. he later falls in love with her, which is to lead to sorrow and disappointment. alice kinnian, the teacher, decides the best thing she can do for charlie is to leave him alone, which she finds out she can not do. charlie sees through flashbacks his mother, his father, and sister norma. he also sees himself as a little boy, and how he was treated. he is haunted by the sight of himself as a teenage boy, who only he can see. he realizes that the boy only wants his mind and body back. charlie will not give up without a struggle, though, and after overcoming humiliation from the friends he thought he had in the bakery where he works, rejection from his mother, and with a warm friendship with algernon, he is able to discover the solution to the error in his own operation which will be able to help others receiving the operation with permanent success. it is too late to help him, however, and after a tender and moving climax which was sure to leave the audience with deep feeling for the man, charlie bids goodbye to all he never knew teachers protest

the teachers protested for a higher pay raise in february. before and after school and on their free time they picketted in front of the school and passed out brochures. they also had a sick-in and refused to turn in absent slips. the students took a stand by boycotting the cafeteria. in the end the teachers got a raise but not what they originally asked.

odds—n—ends

the the $1,507,809 levy election was held at the end of february for the purpose of air conditioning north high school and to give trevor browne an industrial arts building to complete the curriculum at the end of the year the first annual yearbook signing party was held for all students who purchased a fabulous trevor g. browne yearbook.

this year the pom pon girls sold telehearts and delivered them to their loved ones on valentine's day. they sold for 10¢ each and you could write the message of your choice inside.

academic

dedicated to browne

trevor g. browne, long-time member of the phoenix union high school board of education, has seen the school system grow from three to eleven high schools. the last being named in his honor for his 27 years service to the community. born near montreal, canada, browne, was orphaned by age three and had to start teaching school after graduating from the brockville collegiate institute his first teaching job was for the summer period in a one-room, eight grade school in yorkton, near saskatchewan in 1945, dr. browne became aware of the urgent need for a free childrens' clinic. he obtained some space at memorial hospital and persuaded various doctors to donate their time and skill.

dr. browne served as a member of the phoenix union high school system board of education since 1945, and has been board president nine times above left: dr. browne is seen on the day of the dedication surveying the campus named in his honor

srnka designs browne

when mr. milan srnka, the school's architect, was asked where the design for the school came, his reply was "mr. john black wrote an educational specification of what he wanted and i designed it."

the school took approximately 18 months to build. the industrial arts building has not been completed because of a lack of funds. construction for that complex should begin early next year, pending the outcome of a levy election held in february.

the design of trevor browne has won an arizona creative design award for design in concrete. the buildings themselves are designed to help the open-space concept by providing moveable walls for flexible room arrangement, carpeting for soundproofing, radio and closed circuit television for educational programming, and three mini-school offices for closer pupil contacts, and textured colored walls for aesthetic beauty

english literature

this year trevor browne's english department has begun to study various types of literature. freshman have freshman block, sophomores have sophomore block, and junior's and senior's have science fiction, short stories, individual reading, creative writing, semantic and logic, and other subjects.

above right: students concentrate on new project in english class. freshmen and sophomore block classes were a combination of english, social studies and math.

below right: two students diligently work on props for one of the plays presented to the student body by the performing arts area performing arts

art, music, and drama are the main classes offered to students by the performing arts department. some of the individual classes are art, choir, band, and drama. this department does a lot for the school by putting on plays, concerts, half-time shows, and decorating the campus!

mathematics

mathematics has a large part in helping man understand the world around him. through the use of math, he has taken great strides in solving the problems of such fields as science economics, and engineering. today more than ever this field is vital to space travel and electronics. some of browne's math classes are general math, algebra, trigonometry, geometry, and calculus.

social studies

classes in the social studies department included american history, american government, and mass media. this department helps students to learn more about the world around them. american history, usually taken in sophomore year and american government, taken in freshmen year, teach students the history of our country.

business education

students interested in business careers take advantage of courses offered by browne's business education department. among the courses available were typing, shorthand, recordkeeping, and business machines. future secretaries take s.o.t., and future businessmen take c.o.t., and people interested in all kinds of business take t.a.b.s.

science

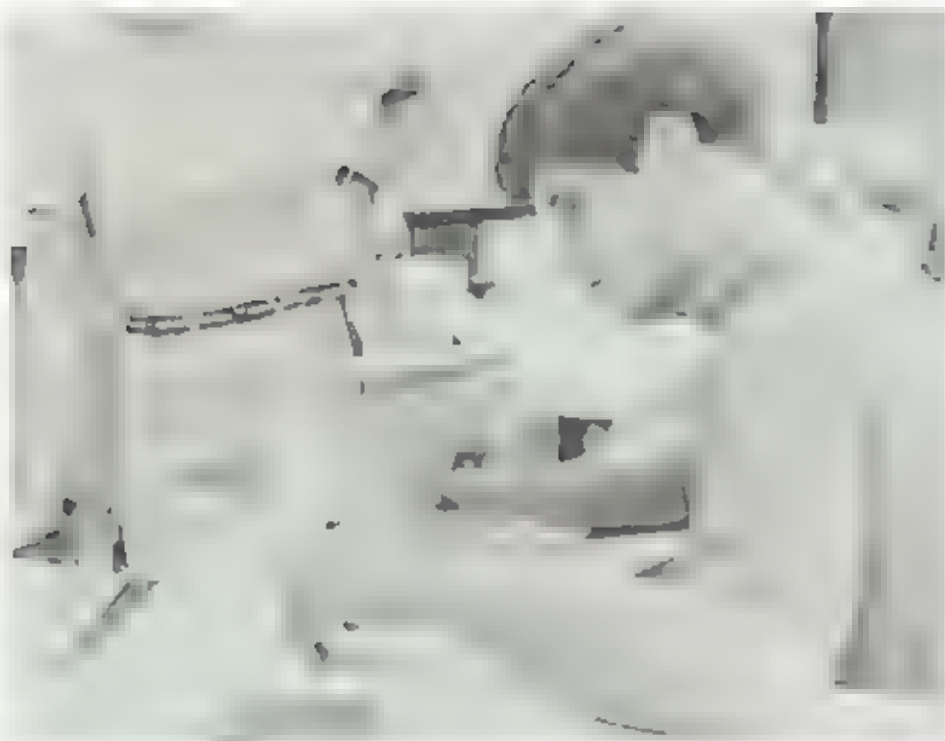

browne's science department with all its new equipment, has many classes to offer interested students. physics, biology, earth science, and chemistry were the laboratory sciences, offered at browne, and students taking these courses performed many lab experiments.

industrial arts

industrial arts classes served to stimulate and develop boys natural abilities in shop work. classes besides general shop are drafting, mechanics, electronics, auto shop, and others. shop this year has made rockets, cars and dealed in mass production and done lots of other things.

home economics

part of the job of the home economics is to teach girls, and now boys, for their future roles in cooking, sewing, home furnishings, and home management. these classes teach boys and girls the fundamentals of fundamentals of food and nutrition, fabrics and clothes styles, and running and caring for a family.

physical education

many students were enrolled in browne's physical education program. this program included both boy's and girls p.e., dance, and health. this department is covered more in detail in the rest of this book r.o.t.c.

reserve officer's training corps is the smallest of browne's departments, but is training young men to become leaders of tomorrow. the only teacher in this department is sgt. fred king.

above: coach mitton and assistant coaches roger williams, center, and don bicknell, right, discuss a critical situation in the game against camelback. the three combined efforts to organize the bruins into a team with a reputation of being tough.

bruins squeak by de niza padres 19-14

the first game of the '72 season almost went on record as a loss for the bruins. oscar ramirez led the marcos de niza padresto a close 19-14 loss to browne.

late in the first quarter, terry brown plunged over from four yards out to give the bruins a 19-7 lead. the padres fought back, but a combination of time running out and a tough browne defense limited them to only one more score.

chapparral firebirds bite the dust, 41-0 against chapparral, ron van woeaik and a very young bruin offense racked up 303 yards total offense while achieving a 41-0 victory. terry brown, bruin tailback, gained 104 yards on ten carries for one touchdown.

the bruin defense didn't stand around watching, either. fumbles were recovered by bruins clay carpenter and ronnie parker. parker's recovery in the second quarter set up a touchdown by tailback rick warrs of the bruins, capped by tony perez' point after.

maryvale homecoming spoiled, 20-0 riding high after the victory over chapparral, the bruins took on sister school maryvale.

keith kirkland, at the reigns since ron van woesik was injured earlier in the season, picked apart the top left: chuck gibbs demonstrates proper kickoff form against camelback. the kickoff team was led by jim chacon. bottom left: tony perez makes it 6 more in the 41-0 rout against chapparral. bottom: this is how it looked from the ref's eyes in the de niza-browne game panther secondary while the bruin defense, under the leadership of co-captains tom schmidt and jim descanti, stopped the panther offense cold.

a second quarter fumble recovery by lance mallow set up a bob jones td for a final score 20-0, trevor browne.

south mountain "real test"; bruins lose 40-6 south mountain proved to be the game that made men out of some inexperienced browne gridders. injuries took their toll of players when mike gibbs suffered a shoulder separation in the first quarter. tom schmidt received a ankle injury in the first half possibly because of an idle friday night between the maryvale and south game, the sluggish bruin offense couldn't match the south offensive punch, and consequently lost 40-6 bruins achieve 7-6 victory over p.u. coyotes following the loss to south came an interesting meeting of trevor browne and phoenix union on the coyotes' home field last year p.u. killed maryvale's hopes for a state championship by defeating the panthers. the first bruin varsity was formed around practically all of the returning lettermen that maryvale would have had if not for the opening of trevor browne high.

defensively. the game was so outstanding that neither team had a clear cut edge until the final 30 seconds. the bruins held off the charging coyotes and took a 7-6 victory top left: a bruin ballcarrier bites the dust after being brought down by a chapparral firebird. top right: terry brown (40) dodges a would-be alhambra tackler. marv whitson (86) tries to help out. bottom right: in other action against alhambra, marv whitson heads upfield, evading referee and tacklers alike. marv was a consistently goog performer all year, especially in the pass receiving department lions tough; win 19-14

the alhambra-browne showdown proved to be the most vital game of the season. a bruin victory would put browne "up there" with the other ranked schools. tenth ranked, alhambra needed a victory to stay in the running for the state title the bruin offense couldn't muster enough points to come out on top. final score 19-14, alhambra spartans outlast bruins, 20-13 camelback's backfield gave the bruin defense something to think about. like the hordes of warriors camelback's namesake were, the spartans kept coming and coming led by tim barnett, the camelback offense would be repulsed, only to charge forward again all three spartan touchdowns were made from within the five yard line the bruins couldn't manage to run, and the only browne score came on a pass from keith kirkland to rick watts and marv whitson a bruin drive that might have tied the game ended on the camelback one yard line when time ran out final score 20-13, camelback bruins rip carl hayden, 13-0 after two straight losses, carl hayden was a needed "pick me up". this time the whole team got its stuff together to spoil the falcon's homecoming 13-0. the defense of browne accounted for 6 of 13 points on a tom schmidt interception.

tom took it 25 yards for a touchdown—the only touchdown of its kind all season long schmidt intercepted once more, and chuck gibbs grabbed a stray falcon pass for a near touchdown. bobby jones of browne recovered a carl hayden fumble, aiding the heartening victory over carl hayden.

west upsets bruin homecoming, 7-0 maybe it wasn't such a good idea to spoil carl hayden's homecoming, as the tables were turned when browne met west for the bruin homecoming. west, with a record as shiny as polished lead (0-8-1), somehow managed to upset the bruins and gain their only victory of the '72 season. its difficult to find a reason why browne allowed it to happen. maybe it was the excitement of homecoming, and the last game of a lot of player's careers whatever it was, it affected browne throughout the game, causing a 7-0 loss inexperience proves costly to bruins the 72-73 varsity basketball season opened on a disappointing note. the first two games of the season, against marcos de niza and south, ended in losses.

less than two weeks later, the big bears roared back under the guidance of coach jerry hahn with a convincing victory over chapparral. the bruins stayed in the groove two weeks after that with a heartening victory over chandler.

in two back-to-back games, trevor browne cagers lost to central on january 9 and took a victory over camelback on january 10.

the casa grande-browne showdown marked the last game before league play opened. on january 12, casa grande dealt the bruins a blow with a victory on the c.g. home court.

league play got under way with another back-to-back series for the bruins. this time it really counted, and the gamey bruins achieved victories over west on january 16 and against chapparral on january 17.

a short rest period of only two days may have been the difference as the bears got r.p.p.ed apart by a stronger maryvale team in the panther gym. humiliating was the word as the bruins absorbed a loss by a margin of 41 points.

phoenix union was the team on the bruins' list the next time around. trevor browne was looking for a victory on the bruin home court, which would have put the bears at 3-1 for league play, but the hunted turned into the hunter as the coyotes outdistanced the bruins, setting them back at 2 wins, 2 losses.

going back on the road three days later, the browne cagers looked for victory over east, but were disappointed once again. the three game losing streak capped by east was the longest the bruins suffered through during the season.

bruins strive for new records on new track the track team had many problems before starting the season this year. for instance, they didn't have a track field, so the marines helped them out. they brought in heavy machinery and leveled it out. after that they made the track field. coach brown then marked the field to the right dimensions. then coach brown and coach parish got the track team together and started tryouts. coach brown took varsity, coach hahn took junior varsity, coach parish took freshmen.

parnassus

"what is parnassus club?" is the most frequently asked question when someone says to someone else, "hey are you in parnassus?" parnassus is merely a group of students, who form a club to help upgrade the learning standards. the club accomplishes this by a special tutoring program, where club members are allowed to help teacher's teach the slower learning students. the club participates in other fun activities too, so it is not all work and no play.

the school government is divided into three houses in order to facilitate the small school concept of Browne. Each house elects two freshmen, two sophomores, two juniors and two seniors from their house to represent them. Each house has eight elected representatives to vote on issues brought up before the student legislative body. An initiative petition signed by 25% or more of the student body can bring an issue before the student representatives. Some of the legislation that the students have passed this year include getting bike racks, getting an underground radio station over the school radio system, promoting a trip for the entire student body at Browne to Disneyland, the junior-senior prom, promoting a nifty fifties dance, helping to sponsor the band's spring concert tour, sponsoring of the Model U.N., and polling students to get their opinions on the scheduling for next year. Students found this year that many schools all over the state were interested in getting copies of Browne Constitution and visiting the campus to see the students government and the school in action.

combining teaching and administrative duties, mr. john a. black is unique in the phoenix union high school system. he has reinstituted the idea of the teaching principal. in addition to overseeing the many details of the school day, he also teaches one geometry class. mr. black wants to communicate with browne students and understand teaching problems by getting into the classroom.

mr. black was the major force in visualizing the concepts, philosophies, and the buildings of trevor browne high school. four years ago he was released from camelback high school to work on the plans for the new high school. he spent some time traveling the united states looking for ideas. he then got a group of teachers and principals together to agree on a philosophy for the new school. this committee developed concepts of the new school on subjects such as curriculum, instructional media, safety surrounding community, and looks. communication is another concept which mr. black is applying. he makes a point to keep in touch with teachers, students, and the surrounding community. he is part of an advisory board which meets with parents twice a month. he often brings teachers and staff together for rap sessions. frequently, he can be seen strolling the campus talking with students. mr. black has done much to humanize the role of the principal in this school.

assisting mr. black in his administrative duties are dr. lanny kope as associate principal and mr. don kline as community school coordinator. dr. kope is basically the business manager. he handles budgeting, attendance, and scheduling. also under his jurisdiction are the departments of student activities, security, and athletics. mr. kline is acting as a liason between the parks and recreation department in supplying classes for members of the surrounding community. he is trying to do away with the traditional boundaries of the school day and curriculum. together, dr. kope and mr. kline assist mr. black in providing opportunities for learners of all ages and interests.

trevor browne high school's counseling system, called counselor in the classroom, is unlike any other in the district. the students are divided into three houses with two counselors in each house. each student may choose which of the two counselors he or she would like to talk to. the counselors help solve problems such as schedule conflicts, career choices, job opportunities, college information, and even personal problems attempting to improve on the understanding between students and faculty, the counselor goes right into the classroom and talk to students and teachers about their attitudes toward each other. the counselors are hopeful that this new set-up will improve communications staff works with new system during first year

each day the cafeteria staff has to make lunch for 2,000 students, plus keep the vending machines in good working order. to do all that, they have to have two crews. about eight people prepare lunches and after school they stay after until 3:30 to clean up after browne's students. not only do they have to make lunches for the students, but also for the teachers, secretaries, and other staff members too.

the secretaries don't get much credit for the things they do in this school. everything is taken for granted by students. if a student wants a schedule change he goes in and changes it with his counselor. in a couple days he gets it. but it's not that easy. the secretaries have to go through all the records in the school and change them. it has to be approved by the counseling department too. in the library things are worse. all the books in the library have to be recorded and cataloged. their names have to be recorded; they all have to have numbers stamped in them, and they have to be shelved in order.

in the bookstore, the secretaries take care of all the selling and reselling of books, retaking i.d. cards, selling tickets for different activities, and making sure all the money from these activities get to the right accounts. despite the heavy workload, most secretaries enjoy their challenging work.

comparing the high cost of education today are cheryl cunningham left, and beth ready, both freshmen

an hour later i heard his name the class would never be the same.

he was safe, he died- the rumors flew.
we called the doctor, the tension grew.
the class was still, they understood we shared our grief, i knew they would.

so young in years
so many tears
all who knew
the class drew

a new school, new problems, and most of all, new ideas. this book is an attempt to capture glimpses of the school year. we tried to keep in mind that a yearbook is not for today, but for tomorrow. we hope that every time you open its cover some of the happy times will come to you and make you smile.

i'd like to thank the staff of the lair for working late hours and for giving all that was humanly possible. i'd also like to give special thanks to gerry schied, cathy cunningham, mrs. laura mooningham, and mr. earl stinson for their superhuman effort and tolerance.

Take

Well then, it's all the well spent, well it's only much been such time you put it in it takes enjoyed & wish the future time it takes regret time is - truly a fellow told it good time your best. Remember the past, the element of good. Remember & see your future best they all of yours never best as sometimes yours your own something thing like something & again

Shirley

Kirk,

It doesn't matter what anybody else writes in this yearbook because I'm the only one that means anything to you. (Right, Right?)

We've been through so much - bad and good times, and everything - And we are still together. Does that mean anything to you? I'm sure it does.

I'll always remember looking at you at school and wishing that I could talk to you, but everything worked out and here we are.

You are everything that I ever wanted and hoped for. Now that I have you, don't ever worry - no matter how much I get mad at you I'll never leave you ever!!! You'll always have me and I'll always have you. Things will get better just as long as we stay together.

Never forget all the things we did together. The movies... (a Clockwork Orange) The concerts, Frank Zappa, Alice Cooper, Captain Beefheart, Neil Young, etc. The parties, the lake (?), the "Circus" and every other thing. (There are so many things) - so many good things!! And there will be so many more. We have so much time and I want to be with you.

I need you to keep me when I need help and to be there when I need you the most I could never live about someone else the way I do about you. So please don't ever leave I could. you have me wrapped around your finger just like you want. But I try not to let you know you do.

I love you Kirk - DID YOU HEAR ME?

I love you John Kirk Thompson!!!!

I can't stand to be without you - you are the most important part of me that I've been looking for.

And we'll be together forever - I'm serious -
now that high school is over - we have so much time. Time for everything to go to college for me so that you can be able to support me and our 12 kids I love you and I wish that you love me as much!

your,
Mary ELLEN
